Some people are comfortable standing up front and speaking to an audience. Some are comfortable speaking to a small group. Some are comfortable raising their hand to ask a question in a classroom. Others are anxious when speaking to one person who they do not know well and even more nervous speaking to a group of people.

If you are afraid of speaking in front of others, you are not alone. The majority of people are afraid of public speaking. One common thing people who are afraid of public speaking experience is that their voice shakes when they begin presenting.

Let's watch this video featuring a tip for how to reduce your voice from shaking during public speaking [0:55]:

Does your voice shake when you feel nervous?

- When have you had to speak in front of others at school, at home, at church, or elsewhere? (Accept all reasonable responses.)
- How did you feel in the days before you had to go up front? (Accept all reasonable responses.)
- What did you experience when you finally stood up front? (Accept all reasonable responses.)
- How do you personally prepare before doing anything that might make you feel a bit nervous?

➤ What suggestions do you have for your family members or peers who might be asked to stand up and share during a church service someday?

The disciple Peter was not a professional public speaker, but somehow he was able to speak with confidence. Let's find out how Peter was able to speak boldly for Jesus in front of a crowd of people.

STEP 4

Lesson 7Focus:

The Holy Spirit gives us power to do bold things for God.

Lesson 7Bible Basis:

Acts 1:4–5; 2:1–47

Lesson 7Memory Verse:

For the Spirit God gave us does not make us timid, but gives us power, love and self-discipline. —2 Timothy 1:7

Materials:

- Internet access
- Empty tin cans (from canned food)
- Hammer
- Nail
- Twine, string, or thick yarn
- Ruler
- Scissors
- Optional: paint and paint brushes or colorful duct tape

Note: This activity can be done as a class, rather than as individuals. If your class is meeting online, you can invite students to bring supplies to class and follow along while you demonstrate how to make the chimes. Or, you can make them for students as a demonstration without them following along.

➤ Who enabled Peter to speak boldly for Jesus? (The Holy Spirit.)

At the time of Pentecost, a mighty wind filled the house when the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples. With the power of the Holy Spirit, the disciples acted boldly for God. As a reminder that we, too, can speak and act boldly for Jesus through the power of the Holy Spirit, we are going to make wind chimes.

When completing this as a group, each student can be assigned a step in the process. An adult should use a hammer and nail to put a hole in each can. Someone can measure and cut the twine, someone can thread the twine through the cans, and someone can tie the knots. Everyone can decorate a can using paint or duct tape. If using paint, allow time for the paint to dry. If using duct tape, to allow for sound effects, avoid taping where the cans make contact. Note: cans do not need to be decorated if supplies are not available. Experiment with different sized cans such as tuna cans, tomato paste cans, etc.

As each can is added to the chimes, students can share a way that he or she has personally witnessed others (or remembers someone from a Bible story) being bold for Jesus.

Invite students to take their chimes home and hang them in the house or outside under an overhang, keeping in mind they are not weather resistant. If you're making the chimes as a class or demonstration, hang them somewhere students can see as you finish your lesson.

The Holy Spirit may not come to us today in a rushing wind that fills the room, but the Holy Spirit will fill us with what we need to share the love and message of Jesus. Throughout the week when we see the chimes move, even if we do not hear them make a sound, let's stop and ask God for the Holy Spirit's power to act and speak boldly for Him.

➤ What are some ways we can act boldly for God this week, sharing God's love and the good news of Jesus from where we are right now or where we will be throughout the week? Consider who will see or hear what we do or say. (Answers will vary. For many this means doing something creative while maintaining social distancing. This might include making telephone calls or writing cards to mail to people.)

Close in prayer: Thank You, Holy Spirit, that You do not make us timid, but give us power, love, and self-discipline (2 Timothy 1:7). We ask You to fill us with boldness to act and speak for Jesus this week regardless of our location and circumstances. In Jesus' name, Amen.
